Tredegar Ironworks

Founded in 1837, Tredegar Ironworks was one of the country’s largest industrial sites before the Civil War and the largest in the Confederacy, supplying about half of the artillery for the Confederate Army.

---

A People’s Contest

Our new permanent, core exhibit, features hundreds of original artifacts, dynamic theater experiences and compelling imagery. Visitors will be able to explore, understand and feel the dramatic story of the American Civil War and its legacies.

Greenback America

This temporary exhibit tells the story of how the United States’ decision on how to pay off the Civil War transformed the relationship between government, the economy, banks, and citizens.

Southern Ambitions

With the 5th largest economy in the world prior to the Civil War, the Confederate states decided to compete for total economic dominance in a transforming world. This exhibit examines their plans for expansion through technology and engineering.
